CM to meet PM tomorrow

Narendra Modi Siddharamaiah

Bengaluru, Aug. 2 (Agencies)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah will meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi and a few Union Ministers in New Delhi on Aug. 3. This will be his first meeting with the PM, after the Congress formed the Government in the State.

Siddharamaiah will meet Modi at 11 am and hold talks, the Chief Minister's Office said in a statement. On the same day, he will meet Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and Road Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari, it said.

As per sources, the CM is likely to request the PM for supply of rice by Central Government for Anna Bhagya. He will also seek an increase of funds from the Centre and additional funds for the irrigation projects, the Jal Jeevan Mission and NREGA.

The CM is also expected to seek Rs. 5,495 crore interim relief for the State as per the recommendation of 15th Financial Commission and also discuss about the State not getting its judicious share in the GST. He will also discuss major road projects and demand for additional grants during his meeting, sources stated.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

TOMATO MELODRAMA: There was a video that went viral recently on the inter webs. A journalist interviews a vegetable seller on the price of tomatoes and during that conversation, the man realises and you can see his facial expressions change as they speak, the desperation of his situation. He tries to control his tears but he is overwhelmed. You would have to have very little empathy not to be moved by this video but this is of course social media, where human tragedy is not about humans, but about causes, identities and politics.

So on Twitter and Facebook, Government was held responsible for the plight of the poor vegetable seller. Which 'government' though depended on the echo chamber whose tweets showed up on your timeline. So if you were aligned with I.N.D.I.A it was Modi who was responsible, and if you were not, it was Nehru. Even on Modi, the attack was on both sides: if he had not caved in to the rich farmers during the protests against farm bills, this would not have happened, so he was both too anti-farmer and pro-farmer, and if this doesn't make sense, social media outrage isn't supposed to. I should add that Rahul Gandhi blamed the fate of the vegetable seller on powerful men in permanent power, and the mental gymnastics required for a man who belongs to the family that has governed India for the most years after Independence to say those words with a straight face are worthy of admiration.

The bigger problem here is that Government is blamed for everything terrible, in the way God once was, because both are seen as all-powerful, omnipresent, all-knowing and of infinite power. Of course, Government loves to be perceived thus for it forms the basis of the belief in the socialistic, welfare State. Not belief, it is faith, blind faith, because no matter how many times Government fails us, the expectation from it never changes. This isn't innocent collective amnesia, but something more sinister. Faith in Government is a surrogate for personal responsibility.

So here's the test. Are you willing to commit to buying only from local vegetable sellers and without haggling, in the way you buy at the fancy chain stores? If you don't, then your 'feeling bad' on social media is either politics or virtue signalling or worse, both.

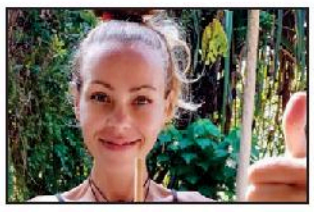
Vegan raw food influencer dies of starvation



Phuket: A 39-year-old vegan influencer named Zhanna Samsonova has reportedly died of starvation after years of subsisting entirely on a raw vegan diet.

According to local media reports, the woman, who went by Zhanna D'Art online, reportedly died on July 21 after finally seeking medical treatment during a tour in Southeast Asia.

Samsonova was following an all-raw vegan diet for at least a decade, according to her Instagram post.

"Baby Godzilla' spotted in Thames

London: A supposed 'red-eyed Baby Godzilla' has been spotted cutting through the water's surface in London's Thames.

The UK capital is hardly famed for its array of river monsters but social media user shared a snap of what some say, could be just that.

Is it the Loch Ness Monster lost on the other side of the country, its cousin, or merely the top of a wooden post sticking out of the water. The latter of possibilities may be the most rational of explanations but that has not stopped the imagination of other running riot.

The picture shows a large black mass peering above the water, with a curious eye-like red circle protruding towards the front of it.

One wrote "Ah, one more thing to add to my irrational fear collection", as another person agreed: "Well I'm not going to be able to sleep tonight."

Another suggested its identity was "Baby Godzilla."

88 percent of Rs. 2,000 notes returned; Sept. 30 last date

Mumbai, Aug. 2 (Agencies)- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said yesterday that 88 percent of the country's highest denomination 2,000-rupee currency notes — worth 3.14 trillion rupees — have been returned since its decision to withdraw them from circulation.

The RBI said in May 2023 that it would withdraw these high-value notes, permitting their exchange or deposit until Sept. 30. The total value of 2,000-rupee notes in circulation was down to 3.56 trillion rupees as of May 19 from 3.62 trillion rupees as on Mar. 31 — the end of the last fiscal year — the Central Bank said in a statement.

Currently, 420 billion rupees worth of these notes are in circulation, it said. Data collected from major banks indicate that about 87 percent of the banknotes received by lenders was in the form of deposits, while around 13 percent had been exchanged for other denominations, RBI said.

People can exchange or deposit them in their bank accounts by Sept. 30. The RBI's 19 regional offices and other banks have been taking Rs. 2,000 notes for exchange with lower denomination one. The RBI said people can deposit or exchange for lower denomination notes till Sept. 30 for up to Rs. 20,000 at a time.

The 2,000-rupee notes were introduced in 2016 with the intention to replenish the Indian economy's currency in circulation after the Government's move to demonetise the economy by scrapping high-value banknotes.

However, the Central Bank has frequently said that it wants to reduce high value notes in circulation and had stopped printing 2,000-rupee notes over the past four years.

RBI has urged public to utilise the next two months to deposit and/or exchange Rs. 2,000 banknotes held with them to avoid any rush in the last few days before Sept. 30, 2023.

Dr. Javeed Nayeem's article: Some observations

Sir,

This refers to the article "A Whiff of Happiness, Late at Night!" by Dr. Javeed Nayeem in SOM dated July 30.

I am a resident of Virgnia, USA and I am from Mysuru. I do read Dr. Nayeem's articles with great enthusiasm. Now, I do have a slight disagreement with the second part of his write up "The Sixth Bhagya!" regarding the rice promise on behalf of our State Government and them not being able to fulfill it.

He has written that this could be politics due to which the Centre is not releasing the rice to the State. I wish to bring to your attention that India in general has been facing rice shortages throughout and the effect of this can also be seen here in the US, where for a week or so, there has been a panic sort of situation and I am also in this situation.

There is severe shortage of rice in US and I am not able to find rice bags, that used to be stocked up in plenty in all the India stores, and have had to make do with what I could and somehow sourced about 3-4 bags of rice.

I learnt that this is because India has banned export of rice, just like last year they had banned export of wheat! Now, we cannot call this export ban as politics as it affects our own country's prospects and status as an exporter of large volumes of rice and the ban is simply to protect India's domestic needs first and then to resort to exporting the surplus. It doesn't have to be BJP Vs Congress all the time!

On Rice Bhagya

Sir,

As always, enjoyed Dr. Nayeem's column immensely on July 30. Entertaining and informative indeed. His Rice Bhagya's saga reminded me of Maharashtra Government's slum rehabilitation scheme, wherein most of the beneficiaries simply sold their allotted tenements and moved over to new slums.

I want to point out that the doctor's observation stating political rivalry caused the shortage of needed quantity is wrong. Our Government had approached all their political affiliates like Punjab, Rajasthan Chattisgarh, West Bengal, Bihar, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu and Kerala, but to no avail.

His next take on specially-abled people was touching and I was reminded of one such employee with Reliance Smart Point right on the link road in JP Nagar, Mysuru. Customer's attitude changes instantly from demanding to cooperation as soon as they realise that the employee is specially-abled. Humanity is still alive!

More BSNL towers needed in Kodagu with power backup: MP

Pratap Simha meets Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw; takes many proposals for Mysuru-Kodagu

Mysuru, Aug. 2 (BCT)- Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha has urged Union Minister for Railways, Communication, Electronics and Information Technology Ashwini Vaishnaw to approve the installation of new BSNL towers in Kodagu to improve the communication network.

Additionally, he has requested various-sized battery sets for BSNL towers in the hilly district to ensure uninterrupted services for the subscribers. During a meeting with the Minister in New Delhi, the MP underlined the need for improving BSNL services in Kodagu and pointed out that the mobile coverage in the area is currently inadequate due to its hilly terrain, necessitating the installation of more mobile towers to extend coverage to remote villages.

Given the frequent power failures in the region, particularly during the monsoon season, Simha highlighted the necessity for various-sized battery sets to maintain seamless services for a large number of subscribers. In his letter to the Minister, he stressed the importance of a well-planned and professionally executed power backup mechanism to facilitate online learning and professions.

The MP stated that he has received numerous complaints from BSNL subscribers in remote areas, expressing their desire for improved service quality and reduced downtime during power outages. He requested the Minister to issue directives to BSNL authorities for expediting the installation of new mobile towers and the procurement of necessary battery sets to efficiently handle any contingencies, ensuring that subscribers do not face any inconvenience.

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha submitting a letter to Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw in New Delhi recently.

Extension of trains

The MP has urged the Minister to enhance travel options for residents and promote tourism and pilgrimage activities between Mysuru and Rameswaram. He has urged the Minister to introduce the Mysuru-Rameswaram weekly train by utilising the idle rake of the Mysuru-Varanasi Express.

To provide direct rail connectivity to Karwar and benefit the districts of Ramanagara, Mandya, Mysuru, Mangaluru and Hassan, the MP suggested extending Train No. 16585/86 from Mangaluru Central to Karwar.

Another proposal recommends examining the operational feasibility of extending Train Nos. 11301/02 CST Mumbai-KSR Bengaluru City Udyan Expresses to and from Mysuru. By doing so, the long-pending demand for daily direct train connectivity between Mysuru and Mumbai can be fulfilled, the MP said.

Simha urged the Minister to rename the 12609/10 Mysuru-MGR Chennai Superfast Express as "Nandi Express" to honour the historical significance of the narrow-gauge era where there was a popular train by name Nandi Express. This change would resonate with the sentiments of the local constituents and reconnect them with the glorious railway heritage.

Mysuru Junction-Ashokapuram additional track

With the completion of yard remodelling at Ashokapuram Railway Station, the MP has proposed the construction of an additional railway track between Mysuru Junction and Ashokapuram. This approximately 5-kilometre track would further enhance train traffic and provide more efficient connectivity to Mysuru city.

To address electromagnetic interference on the Mysore Airport radar signals caused by the close proximity of the railway line to the airport runway, the MP has recommended realigning the Mysuru-Chamarajanagar railway line near the Airport. This would ensure the safe operations of both the railway line and the Airport, he added.

In addition, Simha has urged the extension of T.No.14805/06 Yesvantpur-Barmer-Yesvantpur Weekly A/C Express to Mysuru to capitalise on the tourism potential. This extension would offer fast and convenient rail connectivity to important places along the route and attract passengers from Rajasthan and other regions, he added.

India believes in a world that is inclusive: Dr. S. Jaishankar

Mysuru, Aug. 2 (BCT)- External Affairs Minister Dr. S. Jaishankar said that India has been able to focus attention on the most pressing challenges faced by humanity, during its G20 Presidency. "Emphasis has been laid on Mission LIFE for empowering climate-friendly lifestyles, addressing the challenge of food security and use of technology to transform the lives of people," he said.

The Foreign Minister was speaking virtually to the delegates of the G20's Think20 Summit being hosted at Hotel Radisson Blu Plaza in the city last evening. His session was titled 'Virtual Town Hall'.

Mission LIFE's mantra is 'Lifestyle for Environment' and it connects the powers of the people for the protection of this earth and teaches them to utilise it in a better way. It makes the fight against climate change democratic in which everyone can contribute according to their capacity. Mission LIFE believes that even small efforts can have a huge impact," he said.

"G20 has developed an open architecture by bringing in diverse stakeholders, including civil society. The process is not run by a narrow group of policy-makers. The world is not just about strategy and competition. India believes in an inclusive society. We don't want to leave anyone behind," Jaishankar said.

"We don't have a single problem and a single consequence. We have multiple problems in the world. The G20 has to take these into account. The G20's mandate, while still within the developmental domain, has broadened in recent years. Certainly, developments in Europe have affected it. It cannot be impervious to it. But it has to absorb the impact of developments like these, adapt and adjust," he said.

Connected with people

Dr. Jaishankar remarked that India had adopted an unconventional approach to its G20 Presidency, making it much more connected with people, and demonstrating that their concerns and global concerns are indivisible. Ultimately, Jaishankar felt, India had been able to leverage the G20 platform to showcase change in action and to "make the world ready for India and India ready for the world."

"Prime Minister Narendra Modi has emphasised the importance of women-led development. Women play a critical role not just in the family but also the society. Several of our development initiatives have direct implications for the well-being of girls and women. We have seen tremendous progress in the #gender balance in the last decade," he said.

The voice of the Global South must be heard by the G20 which are the top 20 economies. They have got the ability to shape the present international order. So, they have to listen to the concerns of the Global South.

Empowering women and girls

Dr. Jaishankar also said gender equality is a fundamental human right and empowering all women and girls to realise their full potential is not only key to achieving the 2030 Agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) but also to ensuring sustainable, inclusive and resilient development.

As the G20 President, India has sought to change the growth narrative from the development of women to women-led development, he said.

"Our basic development has slowed down in recent years. Education, employment and growth are under stress. The aftermath of COVID-19 will impact us for a few more years. It has harmed the social fabric and thrown up systemic challenges. These issues worry me. We have tried to hold the G20 in a different matter. We wanted to showcase India's progress. The decade leading to 2030 has been an important decade of transformation for India," the External Affairs Minister said.

India must show the way in carbon footprint reduction

Western powers polluted the world when they were industrialising, says India's G20 Sherpa Amitabh Kant

Mysuru, Aug. 2 (BCT)- The T20 Summit's inaugural evening on July 31 at Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel in city was marked by a special address from Amitabh Kant, India's G20 Sherpa.

Commending the T20 as a global ideas bank, the Sherpa reiterated Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call for ambition, action and decisiveness during India's Presidency, a period marked by global slowdowns, debt crises and geopolitical turbulence.

This presents a unique opportunity to channel resources towards supporting the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and climate action, thus uplifting millions from poverty. To achieve this, initiating reforms in the global financial architecture and stabilising lending rates is critical.

The Sherpa underscored the transformational impact of technology that has enabled direct cash transfers and social protection for millions. While highlighting the global lead that India has in digital payments and data economy, he said that during the ongoing challenges, digital transformation is very important for the globe and India has continuously focussed on it as well as innovating.

Amitabh Kant, India's G20 Sherpa.

"We can carry this Indian model to the rest of the world and transform the India model for the rest of the world simply because the big tech model of the United States will now come to an end as people get more conscious of their digital data," he opined.

High carbon-emitting companies should face active penalties in this context and India must lead in industrialising without carbonising, he said. He said that Western powers polluted the world when they were industrialising and the emerging markets have contributed very little to this present climate crisis.

The Sherpa said that India has only contributed 1.5 per cent of the 2,800 Gigaton of carbon space available, whereas logically on the basis of per capita income it should be entitled to 17.5 percent.

The plenary panel was followed by the launch of the T20 Communique, a key outcome document that synthesises insights from the T20 Taskforce Statements, policy briefs and the Ideas Box — a novel platform introduced by Think20 India to engage citizens and allow them to share their perspectives.

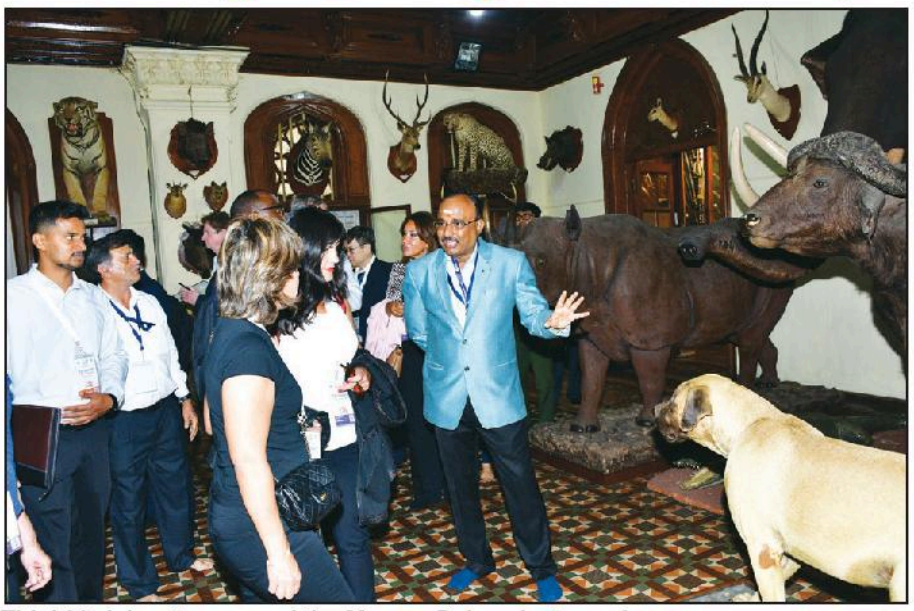
To witness Palace illumination from 8.15 pm to 8.45 pm and Police Band performance tonight; no public entry



Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya taking G20's Think20 delegates around the Mysore Palace last evening.

Mysuru, Aug. 2 (RK&BCT)- The G20's Think20 summit delegates who are in Mysuru city for deliberations embarked on an enriching visit to the majestic Mysore Palace last evening.

A warm and traditional welcome was accorded to over 180 delegates by officials of the Palace Board, with Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya leading the way. The delegates came to the Palace in five buses at around 4.45 pm after the morning discussion at Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel. The security measures for the delegates were led by DCP M. Muthuraj and ACPs.

To ensure a delightful and a knowledgeable experience, 15 skilled tourist guides were at their service throughout the visit.

The guides, adept in important foreign languages, explained the significance of the Palace, when it was built, present state and the glorious past. The delegates were happy to hear about the iconic structure in their own language.

The delegates were given an exclusive tour of the Mysore Palace's diverse sections, where they were treated to a mesmerising display of taxidermy artistry crafted by Van Ingen. They marvelled at the skilful taxidermy work, which brought to life an array of magnificent creatures.

They were captivated by the sight of meticulously preserved mounts and shields featuring various tigers depicted in dynamic poses. Additionally, the room showcased stunning taxidermy displays of bears, lions, wild boar, elephants, assorted deer, rhinoceroses, crocodiles and leopards. Each exhibit seemed to tell a unique story of the rich wildlife that once roamed the lands.

Delegates in awe

During the Palace tour, the Think20 delegates were informed about profound cultural heritage of Mysore Maharajas, who were not only great patrons of art, literature and culture but also benevolent rulers. Their governance was characterised by prioritising the well-being and interests of the public over their own, the delegates were told.

To add a touch of charm to the evening, a captivating concert by the Police Band is also scheduled during the illumination. However, public entry will be restricted inside the premises.

Palace Board officials said that to create a royal ambience, over 20 Mounted Police personnel will be stationed at the gates to welcome the delegates. The regular sound and light show at the Palace is cancelled.

As the renovation of lighting systems, fountains and other water displays are nearing completion, the authorities are ensuring that the bulbs are lit at the stretches that have been completed. The arrangements at the Dam are being supervised by CNNL Executive Engineer Jayanth and Assistant Executive Engineer (AEE) Abu Farooq. ASHES SERIES 2023 CONCLUDES

in the absence of injured Lyon; to square series at 2-2

OZs lost a 'Golden Opportunity' to clinch the series at 3-1 at the Kia Oval, by sheer lack of tenacity and application when needed most. The last series that the OZs have won in England was in 2002; when Steve Waugh and Co. trounced England 4-1. The 'World Test Champions' who literally 'humiliated' India at the same venue in June, 2023 failed to cash in on a brilliant opening partnership of 140 in chasing 384 for a win, on a good batting track; while the Englishmen with the fire and a burning desire, squared the series 2-2 to win by 49 runs. Congratulations to them on achieving the feat. But for the 'Rain Gods' on the last day of the 4th Test at Leeds, Manchester, that saved the OZs from a certain defeat, the series result would have been much different.

Meanwhile, Stuart Broad, who announced his retirement, was given a grand ovation from the packed crowd at The Oval and also the OZs. Broad, 37, enjoyed the reputation of being one of the best pacers in English Cricket scalping 604 wickets in 167 Tests, an impressive achievement. His guile, accuracy and the ability to move the red cherry in the air and off the pitch were remarkable in all formats of the game. The only blot in his career was in 2007 when the 6x6 (6 sixers in an over) at the willow of young Yuvaraj Singh of India in the ICC T20 World Cup. Youngsters have a lot to learn from him. We thank him and wish him well going forward in life.

Team England celebrates a wicket on day-5 of fifth Ashes Test match against Australia at The Oval in London on July 31.

Batting department of English had all the intents/ attributes to kill and win. Whereas knocks by Zak Crawley, Ben Stokes and Jonny Bairstow were brilliant, Joe Root's innings was a treat to watch. His aggression from ball no. 1 was not his normal; but went on to script that beautiful 100 at Lord's and was unlucky to miss two more hundreds. Others like Harry Brook, Ben Duckett and Moeen Ali chipped in with impressive scores.

The Ashes Series in retrospect, has many aspects for serious discussions. Is the OZ team ageing fast? Openers David Warner and Usman Khawaja are 36 years. Warner looks surely 'one foot out'. Khawaja has been 'in and out' too many times; but has batted brilliantly against Pakistan, India and in this series, averaging 60. Undoubtedly, his batting contributed a lot in the two Australian victories in the series. The other centurions — Steven Smith, Marnus Labuschagne and Mitchell Marsh — did contribute but lost the sting when it mattered the most, to poor strokes/ discretions. Travis Head could not impress. In the bowling department, absence of Nathan Lyon was crucial no doubt. But, he is 35 years and not left with much cricket too. Young Todd Murphy has a lot to learn. Seamers were good but in patches. Catching at The Oval was deplorable. In sum and substance, the performance of the OZs fell short of expectations. Time for them to scout for young blood with hunger to perform.

Looking at the possibilities of better results from the English team, a few questions arise. Was it prudent for the selectors to include Jimmy Anderson in the series at all. Inclusion of either Mark Wood or Chris Woakes in his place would have turned the tide in favour of the English right from the 1st Test, undoubtedly. Sadly, Ollie Robinson had a strained back and thereby both Wood and Woakes could play. Both rattled the OZ batsmen, as depicted in the stats.

Well, 'Life is Like That' in Cricket. Ashes series is always equivalent to a India Vs Pakistan series of yesteryears. Full of energy and fire. We hope to witness more such games and wish the teams all the best▪

Rain dumps England at Old Trafford

By Prof. B.K. Viswanath

There was a galore of frustration writ large on the face of Ben Stokes, the English Captain at the end of the Old Trafford Test in which England had gained an upper hand but failed to clinch the game because of rains. The July 19-23 Ashes Test had all the elements of high drama, expectations, joy, disappointment, climax and anticlimax as the match progressed.

In a nutshell, Ben Stokes won the toss and opted to field. The Aussies in their first Innings could muster 317 runs to which England replied with a massive 592. For England, Chris Woakes grabbed 5 wickets and when the hosts batted, Josh Hazlewood got five wickets, bowling in a hostile, disciplined manner.

The Aussies had to score 275 runs to avoid an Innings defeat. At Old Trafford, the importance of either winning the match or drawing it, was very much on their mind, to avoid any hiccups in the 5th Test at The Oval.

At Old Trafford, England came close to winning the game but Australia was equally determined to deny the opponents a victory. For Australia, both Marnus Labuschagne and Mitchell Marsh fought a grim battle with all their skills and technique to save the game. They could avoid a possible defeat with the help of rain which eventually got the team a drawn Test match.

Stuart Broad after claiming his 600th Test wicket.

For England, Moeen Ali's fighting 51 runs at number 3 slot proved one of fruitions. Before the match, Geoff Boycott had opined that it would be better for England to play 3 opening batsmen so that Joe Root could stick to his customary number 4, wherein he had scored a lot of runs for England. As the match progressed, Zak Crawley and Root put on a hurricane 206 runs as the opener hit a magnificent 189 with Root playing a classic game to score 84 runs. Their good work was supported by Harry Brook and Stokes who scored a splendid 61 and 51 runs respectively.

With the entry of the burly Jonny Bairstow, the English wicket keeper who started hitting the ball all around the Old Stafford ground while scoring a cameo 99 not out. Obviously, he had in mind the rather unsporting act of Alex Carey stumping him in the second Test. For Australia, only Hazlewood bowled with hostility and fire to scalp 5 English wickets. To the misfortune of OZs, their spearhead seamer Mitchell Starc had suffered an injury on his left shoulder and cramps on his legs also played havoc on him. Facing a deficit of 275 runs, Australia had many hiccups and when the chips were down, Labuschagne and Marsh steadied the Innings and took the score to 214/5, when rain intevened to save the OZs. In Australia's first Innings, Stuart Broad got his 600th Test wicket when he dismissed Travis Head, (caught by Root) for 48. With this feat, Broad had jumped to a glorious arena and joined the elite club of England pacer James Anderson who was soaring high with 668 wickets. At this point, Broad had put behind his once hero Glenn McGrath, bettering the Aussie paceman's bowling record.

The story of rain-affected matches goes a long way in cricket Test history. In the third test itself, England was helped by rain and after a little sunshine, the fast bowler Wood ran through the Aussie Innings to snatch an English victory. In a similar situation here in Bengaluru, AB De Villiers playing in his 100th Test in 2015, was robbed of his glorious appearance as it rained heavily resulting in a drawn match.

In another instance at Old Trafford, play was called off on day 3, in the match between England and West Indies on July 18, 2023 when the proceedings were shelved. But on day 4, with a better weather forecast, England won the match against West Indies by 269 runs with Broad taking 10 wickets and Woakes getting 5 in that Test.

At the end of the Old Trafford Test match, Ben Stokes was looking at the pitch from the dressing room and remarked, "Tough pill to swallow."

Joe Root too came out with the words, "It does not get dark till 10 o'clock here in the summer, why can't we just keep playing?' Hoping against hope, the English players were seen kicking a football around in the outfield.

Ben Stokes was frustrated to experience the Old Trafford Test being forced into a draw. He had pinned hopes of the English victory when he commented on the performance of the team by saying, "Pretty much perfect"▪

Madras Eye: High alert in Mysuru

Over 50 students at a girls hostel infected

Mysuru, Aug. 2 (SBD,GA&KS)- Madras Eye disease, also known as Conjunctivitis, is increasing in the State. According to District Health Officer (DHO) Dr. P.C. Kumaraswamy, no cases have been reported in Mysuru district, but still, it is necessary to take steps to prevent contracting the disease and the officials of the Health Department are on high alert to prevent the disease from spreading.

Though the DHO has stated that not a single case has been reported in the district, over 50 girl students at a private hostel in city have the symptoms of Madras Eye disease with their eyes turned red along with itching and burning sensation.

These students have availed treatment and left for their respective places after seeking permission. Other students too urged the hostel warden to send them home and after speaking with the hostel administration, the warden, after taking letters from the students, have sent them home.

Madras Eye is a common eye condition characterised by inflammation of the conjunctiva, the clear membrane covering the white part of the eye and the inner surface of the eyelids, which is a highly contagious that spreads easily from one person to another.

Also called as 'Pink Eye,' the disease is spreading in the State. It is learnt that the disease spreads rapidly among students as they stay in groups. As a precautionary step, officials of the Health Department are keeping a tab on the reports of Health Centres.

Awareness is also being created about the disease and steps are being taken to provide treatment if the disease is reported. Reports are being taken from all Government and private hospitals including Primary Health Centres (PHCs). No cases have been reported so far and all Medical Officers have been instructed to keep special focus on the disease, said District Surveillance Officer Dr. Mahadevaprasad to SOM.

Symptoms

Patients with Madras Eye disease typically experience redness and swelling of the affected eye; Itching and burning sensation; Discharge from the affected eye, which may be clear or yellowish; Increased tearing; Light sensitivity; Blurred vision; Swollen eyelids etc. said District Vector Borne Diseases Control Officer Dr. S. Chidambara.

Precautions to be taken

To prevent the spread of Madras Eye disease, it is important to wash hands frequently with soap and water; Avoid touching the eyes and face; Do not share towels, eye drops or makeup; Dispose tissues properly; Avoid close contact with infected individuals; Practice good hygiene by keeping the eye area clean and free of discharge; Wear dark glasses if infected and avail immediate treatment if suffering from cold, cough and fever, Dr. Chidambara advised.

One may also get contracted with Madras Eye while on tour, hence it could be said that there is no report of the disease. But it is not officially reported. There is increase in the disease in a few parts of the State and parents fear sending their children to schools and colleges and hence it is very important to take personal precautions to prevent contracting Madras Eye. Parents should advise their children and teachers should keep a watch on students, a doctor said.

Diagnosis and treatment

Diagnosis of Madras Eye disease is made through a comprehensive eye examination. Treatment depends on the underlying cause, but typically involves cleaning of eyes using cotton dipped in warm water. Taking necessary medicines prescribed by the doctor is very important. If any student has contracted the disease, the student should be isolated and there is no need to panic if the disease is contracted as it can be cured in three to five days by availing treatment.

No cases reported: Claims DHO

Awareness is being created about Madras Eye since many days especially in schools and colleges by holding programmes. If any student is found with symptoms of Madras Eye, teachers have been instructed to contact ASHA workers or a Primary Health Centre (PHC) and get tested. Reports are being obtained from all hospitals including PHCs but no cases have been reported so far. Still, along with creating awareness, necessary steps have been taken for treatment.

WORD OF THE DAY

Glom

Pronunciation: GLAHM.
Meaning: To glom is to take or get something. Glom is most often used in the phrase "glom on to" to refer to taking something for your own use, becoming strongly attached to or associated with someone or something, or becoming aware of something.
Origin: It's a classic case of glomming: Americans seized on glaum (a term from Scots dialect that basically means "to grab") and appropriated it as their own, changing it to glom in the process. Glom first meant "to steal" (as in the purse-snatching, robber kind of stealing), but over time that meaning got stretched to include figurative uses. Today the term is most familiar in the phrase "glom on to," or "glom onto," which can mean "to appropriate for one's own use," as in "glomming on to another's idea"; "to grab hold of," as in "glommed onto the last cookie"; "to latch on to," as in "glom on to an opinion" or "glom onto an influential friend"; or "to become aware of," as in "glomming onto the potential of this new technology."
Example: "I am aware that adaptations have been with us for centuries and that Shakespeare borrowed his best plots. But that doesn't stop this book lover from being suspicious when movies and plays glom onto my favorite titles." — Chris Hewitt, The Star Tribune (Minneapolis, Minnesota), 21 May 2023

THE ODD WORD

Gamidolatry

Worship of marriage.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Greased lightning

Meaning: The phrase greased lightning is used to describe things that are fast.
Origin: What's the idea behind the idiom "greased lightning"? Well, lightning has a reputation for being fast. According to The Measure of Things, a lightning bolt can travel around 217,000 mph (349,000 kph). While that speed is impressive, some people think that lightning travels at the same speed as light, but that isn't true. For comparison, light travels at around 670,000,000 mph (1,078,260,480 kph). Okay, so lightning is fast, but what does grease have to do with that? Well, lubricants like oil and grease are used to make machinery run smoother and faster. So the idea here is that grease is being figuratively applied to lightning in order to make it go even faster!
Now let's talk about how old this phrase is. The earliest one could find it in print is in the 1830s. For example, the expression is used in an English newspaper called The Boston, Lincoln, Louth & Spalding Herald, January, 1833: "He spoke as quick as 'greased lightning.' "
